OVERVIEW

Journey overview

While Mera Peak is considered a non-technical climb , it does demand good physical fitness and determination. Suitable for trekkers with moderate trekking or hiking experience, this peak is ideal for those wishing to take their Himalayan adventures to new heights without the need for advanced mountaineering skills. A pre-climb training session at Khare ensures all participants are well-prepared for the final ascent.

DAY-BY-DAY ROUTE

Itinerary

A clear breakdown of each day of the trip.

DAY 1

Arrival at Kathmandu 1400m. and hotel transfer

Upon your arrival at Tribhuvan International Airport (TIA), our representative will be there to greet you and facilitate your smooth transition. They will assist with your luggage and ensure a hassle-free check-in process at your hotel.

Depending on your arrival time, take the opportunity to rest and rejuvenate. If you feel up to it, explore the lively city surroundings or visit nearby attractions. Overnight, enjoy a comfortable stay at a well-appointed star hotel in Kathmandu.

DAY 2

Kathmandu excursion and Mera Peak Climb preparation

Following breakfast, your tour guide will arrive at your hotel to commence the Kathmandu Cultural Tour. Once the sightseeing concludes, you will have a comprehensive overview and briefing on the upcoming Mera Peak Climb.

If you have any remaining shopping for the trek and climb, Thamel offers an array of options to purchase or rent equipment and clothing. After your shopping needs are fulfilled, we'll drop you back at your hotel for a restful overnight stay, ensuring you are well-prepared for the early start of tomorrow's adventure.

DAY 3Flight to Lukla and trek to Chhuthang (3020m).

Commencing your Mera Peak trek on Day 3, you bid farewell to the bustling capital and venture into the breathtaking Himalayan region. An early morning flight from the domestic terminal of TIA or Manthali Airport (a 4-hour drive from Kathmandu) whisks you away to Lukla. This 45-minute scenic cross-valley flight treats you to panoramic views of lush green hills, meandering rivers, and vibrant settlements before unveiling the majestic snow-clad expanse of the Himalayas.

Upon landing in Lukla, connect with the remaining members of your expedition team. If there are any last-minute shopping needs, explore the local marketplaces. Continuing the adventure on the third day of the Mera Peak itinerary, traverse picturesque paths through dense rhododendrons and pine forests beneath the Kalo Himal Ridge. The trek unfolds along the Dudh Koshi River, leading you to Chhuthang, a pastoral summer landscape utilized by herders.

DAY 4Chhutthang to Tuli Kharka Trek (4300m) via Zatraval Pass (4600m)

Embark on another day of picturesque exploration during your Mera Peak Climbing adventure, but keep in mind that traversing one of the high Himalayan passes requires a measured pace and consistent hydration. Beginning your journey from Chhuthang after breakfast, navigate the enchanting trails adorned with magnolia, rhododendron, and pine forests, gradually ascending the steep trail that leads to the summit of Zatraval Pass.

This marks the initiation of a demanding trek in the Mera Peak itinerary, urging you to conquer challenging inclines. While the climb may pose difficulties, the summit of Zatraval Pass offers a spectacular panorama of the Himalayan massifs, including Lumdung Himal, Karyolang Peak, Kongdi Ri, and Numbur Himal. Following the awe-inspiring high Himalayan experience, descend along the trail to Tuli Kharka, tracing the paths through Chattré. Tuli Kharka, a spacious pasture land dotted with teahouses, provides a serene overnight resting spot.

DAY 5Tuli Kharka to Kothe (4182m)

On the fifth day of your Mera Peak adventure, delve deeper into the enchanting atmosphere of the Hinku Valley. Departing from Tuli Kharka, you'll follow a descending trail leading to the ridge of the Hinku River in the initial part of the trek. Navigate rocky paths with alternating ascents and descents through the lush pine, oak, and rhododendron forests, venturing further into the heart of the Hinku Valley.

Along this scenic route, be captivated by a delightful view of Mera Peak. Continuing along the western trail of the valley, make your way towards Kothe, situated along the banks of the Hinku River. Find accommodation in teahouses at Kothe, marking a tranquil halt for the day.

DAY 6Kothe to Thangnak (4326m)

After enjoying the magical vibrance of the close-up Mera Peak from Kothe, you will proceed along the trails headed toward Thangnak. On this day of your Mera Peak trek, you will move along the steep gradual upward trails on the ridge of the Hinku Khola making your way toward Gondishung, a small summer settlement for the herders.

Moving further ahead you will also pass one of the oldest monasteries in the region, Lungsumgba Gumba which was built approximately 200 years ago. It's a short scenic trail from here that will lead you to Thangnak, a summer grazeland for the herders with several teahouses. From here, you will be able to enjoy the stunning views of Mera Peak, Kusum Kanguru, and other adjacent peaks as you settle in for the night in this magical ambiance of the Himalayas.

DAY 7Thangnak to Khare (5000m)

Following breakfast, your expedition advances towards the final settlement en route to the Mera Peak Base Camp, Khare. As you ascend to the 5,000-meter altitude, it's crucial to stay well-hydrated and maintain a steady pace. In the initial leg of today's trek, traverse the steep moraines of the Dig Glacier, progressing towards Dig Kharka. Continuing the journey, follow the glacial moraines of the Hinku Nup and Shar Glaciers, leading you to Khare.

In the concluding stretch of this day's adventure in the Mera Peak trek, navigate a steep trail that extends to Khare. From this strategic settlement along the route, relish the panoramic views of Himalayan massifs such as Kusum Kanguru, Kyashar, and the north face of Mera Peak.

DAY 8Acclimatization and side exploration at Khare

As you've ascended significantly on this day of your Mera Peak trek, it serves as your initial acclimatization day. Adequate acclimatization is crucial to mitigate the risk of altitude sickness at higher elevations. Therefore, in your Mera Peak Climbing itinerary, allocate this day to allow your body to rest after the demanding journey. Engage in light physical activities and side explorations to facilitate an effective acclimatization process. Consider undertaking short hikes in the surrounding region and use the time to check and prepare your mountaineering equipment for the upcoming significant adventure starting tomorrow. This thoughtful approach ensures your well-being and readiness for the challenges ahead.

DAY 9

Trekking from Khare to Mera High Camp (5300m)

The eagerly anticipated day has arrived, the pinnacle of your Mera Peak climbing adventure. Today, you ascend the snowy slopes, forging a path toward Mera High Camp. Leaving Khare behind, the journey unfolds as you progress to Mera Base Camp in the initial part of the trek. Traverse the Mera La Pass, the inaugural snow and ice segment of the Mera Peak climb expedition, navigating the glacial expanses en route to Mera Base Camp.

Upon reaching the base camp, the commencement of your climbing expedition on Mera Peak to the high camp is imminent. Ascending through snowy and glacial sections, a gradual climb leads you to Mera High Camp. Our expedition crew diligently sets up warm camps, providing a restful night and preparing nourishing meals. With mesmerizing, up-close views of Everest, Lhotse, Makalu, and Nuptse, settle in for the night as the Mera Peak climbing adventure commences early the next morning.

Summit of Mera Peak (6461m) and descend down to Khare

Today marks the summit day of your expedition. Fully equipped with all the necessary mountaineering gear, you embark on your ascent early in the morning, aiming to reach the summit before noon to avoid the challenges posed by high winds in the afternoon. Guided by a seasoned mountain professional, you follow their footsteps, reassured that every detail has been meticulously arranged for a comfortable climbing experience, alleviating any concerns.

The journey to the summit of Mera Peak from Mera High Camp takes approximately 5-6 hours. Upon reaching the pinnacle, revel in the extraordinary vistas encompassing Ama Dablam, Nuptse, Everest, Makalu, Lhotse, Cho Oyu, Kanchenjunga, and numerous other peaks. Following this awe-inspiring achievement, descend to Khare, where you'll celebrate your triumph and relish the warm comfort of the local teahouse after a fulfilling and adventurous day.

Trekking back to Kothe (4182m) from Khare

After conquering Mera Peak, your journey retraces its path back to Kothe from Khare. Bid farewell to the high-altitude Himalayan region as you backtrack across the moraines of the Hinku Nup and Share Glaciers, leaving Dig Kharka and Dig Glacier behind. Descending to lower altitudes, this leg of your Mera Peak trek is a relatively easy day's walk.

As you navigate the descending trails, you'll pass through the summer grazing land of Thangnak, re-enter the spiritual ambiance of Lungsumgba Gumba, and, in the final stretch of the day's adventure, follow the trekking trail alongside the Hinku River. This trail leads you to the picturesque Kothe Village, nestled along its banks.

DAY 12

Kothe to Tuli Kharka (4300m)

After a hearty breakfast, your journey continues along the familiar path, tracing your steps amidst the scenic trail meandering through dense rhododendrons and pine forests. This leg of your Mera Peak expedition features more uphill segments than descending trails.

Progressing further along the trail, soak in the magnificent views of Mera Peak. Follow the ridges of the Hinku River, and with a gradual ascent during the final stretch, you'll ultimately reach Tuli Kharka. Immersed in the grandeur of the Himalayan ambiance, settle in for the night at a teahouse in this expansive pasture land.

Trekking down to Lukla from Tuli Kharka via Zatravala Pass (4600m)

Retracing your steps, you journey back to the high Himalayan pass, Zatravala Pass, and descend to Lukla. Commencing the steep ascent from the Tuli Kharka side on this day's adventure, you conquer the summit of this magnificent pass. After immersing yourself in the breathtaking views of the Himalayan range from this vantage point, you follow a gradual descending route toward Lukla.

Covering a trekking distance of approximately 6-7 hours on this day of the Mera Peak itinerary, you arrive in Lukla from Tuli Kharka. This marks the final day of your Mera Peak climb itinerary, where you will spend the night in the magical, serene, and picturesque ambiance of the Himalayan region. Rest at one of the finest teahouses in Lukla, preparing for the return trip to Kathmandu tomorrow.

DAY 14Fly back to Kathmandu from Lukla

On Day 15 of your Mera Peak Climbing expedition, you bid farewell to the Himalayas, cherishing the fond memories created in this enchanting region. Board a flight back to Kathmandu from the gateway of Everest, relishing the aerial views of the stunning Himalayas, lush green landscapes, high hills, and vibrant settlements as you descend into the bustling capital.

Upon arrival at TIA or Manthali Airport, you will be transferred back to your respective hotel. After a rejuvenating rest, take the opportunity for some side exploration of Kathmandu. Explore nearby landmarks or stroll around the city, discovering local restaurants and soaking in the vibrant atmosphere.

DAY 15Airport transfer for departure

On your departure day, our representative will coordinate with your flight schedule, pick you up from your hotel, and facilitate the check-out procedures. It is advisable to reach the airport at least 3-4 hours before your scheduled flight, so please plan your arrangements accordingly. We trust that you had a fantastic time, and we sincerely thank you for choosing us for your adventures. We look forward to welcoming you again. Have a safe and pleasant journey.
